Special FLUKE FISHING Panel

featuring

Capt. Wade Baker

Capt Wade Baker grew up fishing on Narragansett Bay.

Today he runs Booked Off Charters, sailing out of Wakefield, RI, with Capt. Tony Guarino. He runs charter trips both inshore and out to the Canyons and averages 75 fluke trips a year.

Wade says that he has a large customer base from New York and New Jersey which keeps him in touch with the latest on fluke fishing from the south of us.

Wade is on the Pro Staff for Fin-Nor, CraftyOne Customs and XtraTuff

Capt. Rich Hittinger

Rich has been fluke fishing since he was 13 years old, but more hard-core during the past 23 years.

He fishes hard and often during the summer and fall, usually off Block Island, and always with fishing partner Bob Murray aboard Skipjack, their 31' Willis Beal.

Rich and Bob always fish the RISAA Team Fluke Tournament and are always among the top teams.

Most members know him as RISAA's 1st Vice President for the past 10 years, and last year he retired from the R.I. Marine Fisheries Council after serving for 8 years.

Richard Laurie

Richard moved to Newport from Worcester MA in 1970. After snagging his first pogy, which was bigger and fought harder than any trout he had ever caught, he became hooked on salt water fishing!

After buying his second small boat he started fluke fishing. That was 15 years ago. He now has a 23 foot Slickcraft and still loves fluke fishing.

"I've improved my fishing skill by listening to RISAA speakers," he said, "especially Richard and Gisele Golembeski."

Tom Wood

Tom has been saltwater fishing since he was 10 years old and used to ride his bike to fishin local ponds. Growing up in Warwick, he discovered saltwater fishing and would catch his own bait, then use it to catch stripers and blues.

Seventeen years ago he married Dawn, who also became his fishing partner, and together they became very profecient at fluke fishing, especially in areas of Narragansett Bay and Newport.

His skills improved as he attended many RISAA seminars for the past 10 years.
