Clothes To Kids Rhode Island gladly accepts all clothing that would be appropriate for children and young adults grades K-12 to wear to school.

During my visit Peter Barton, Board president and volunteer at CTKRI, gave me a tour and explained that over 42,000 kids in RI qualify to come shop at the store. And, while the majority of students at this time come from Providence and Pawtucket, there are plenty of students from all over Rhode Island.

Parents can shop alone or with their kids. It doesn’t matter since the child must be pre-registered with CTKRI and shopping is by appointment only. While I was meeting with Peter I saw both parents and whole families shopping with their personal shopper. To date, CTKRI has given out over 7,000 wardrobes to needy students since 2016.

Peter also gave me the rundown on how donations make their way from dropped off plastic bags to make it onto their shelves. After clothes are dropped off, they are sorted for wearability, then get washed on site, then tagged and sorted by gender and type and stored in a “back room” the same size as the storefront. This “Back area” keeps the storefront clean, kitschy and very professional looking.

Shopping is by appointment only on Tuesday and Thursday 9:30-12:30, Wednesday 2:30-6:00 and the 3rd Saturday of the month 9:30-12:30.

Call 401-941-8050 to schedule your appointment. Donations accepted anytime, no appointment needed.

Store location: 77 Reservoir Ave #5. Providence, RI 02907.
