Shore Fishing....

Plugging the Water Column

featuring

Julio Silva

Julio Silva is an all species, all methods angler. A RISAA member since 2010, he's one of those hard-core anglers who fishes for anything that swims via shore, boat, kayak, and skishing.

He has been blogging for 9 years and delivering fishy seminars for 7 years. He has presented seminars at the New England Saltwater Fishing Show several times.

He was the President of the Plum Island Surfcasters for 4 years.

He has rods like his wife has shoes. During his seminars, he answers all questions without secrecy.

In his seminar, Plugging the Water Column, you will learn how to fish the entire water column: from spooks to jigs and everything in between.

You will also learn how to select the proper gear for what you are casting and when and where you should be casting it.

Julio Silva will share lessons learned from years of experience on the surf so can take your surfcasting to the next level.
